The photo used has no front hull views, so there are no markings shown.

The yellow clover leaf-shaped marking on the turret roof is an anti-gas patch, used to detect the use of gas weapons.

This tank may well have a disruptive second colour (black) but it is too faint to see more than one or two demarcation lines on the turret rear. Sorry.

Squadron Sign:

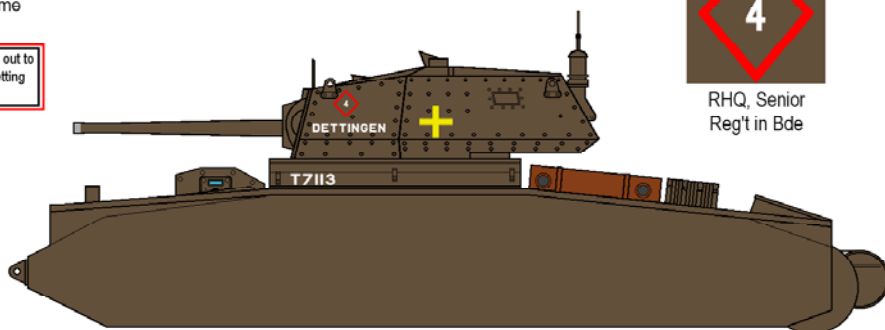

RHQ, Senior Reg't in Bde

Once again my profound thanks go out to Peter Brown for his guidance in getting these markings right.
